Employment Background Check Website Earns Top SSL Security Certificate

Customers who stop by InstantCriminalChecks.com for their next order of secure employment background checks will notice something new — a green address bar. The reason for this not-so-subtle change is that Instant Criminal Checks has recently been awarded a top security certificate from the largest provider of digital certifications, GeoTrust.

GeoTrust honored InstantCriminalChecks.com the employment background check website by awarding them the GeoTrust True BusinessID with Extended Validation SSL certification. This is the highest level SSL certification available to online businesses, and it proves quickly and easily to customers that they are working with an online business committed to secure transactions. Customers notice that the address bar which includes the company name turns green, and know they are working with a business they can trust.

In addition to a green address bar, customers will see a padlock as well as the letters "https" at the beginning of the URL. At the same time, the company name will rotate with the business name GeoTrust, just more proof that this is a secure website where transactions can be safely performed. For many years InstantCriminalChecks.com has made its employment background check customers' security and privacy a top priority, but this is the just latest step in making sure the company continues to stay secure into the future.

Businesses have to pass a variety of security measures through GeoTrust before they are awarded this top SSL certification. Customers have come to know GeoTrust as a top name in online security, just as they have come to know InstantCriminalChecks.com as a top provider of secure criminal background checks. Of all the SSL certifications online, this is the top award — it proves that the company has the highest level of SSL encryption available on their website.

The GeoTrust True Site Seal is yet another way that InstantCriminalChecks.com customers know that the company is committed to background check security. This seal is placed in highly visible locations on the website, in case the customer did not notice the green address bar. The seal states that the business is reputable and is backed by an authentication agency that has checked to ensure the site is secure.

InstantCriminalChecks.com is committed to staying on top of the latest SSL encryption technology, because customer security is a top priority. This is an investment that the company was honored to make, and company representatives are pleased that the business has achieved this top security honor. For more information on the SSL certificate and background check security at InstantCriminalChecks.com, check out the GeoTrust True Site Seal bar that is on display on the security page. It provides customers more information about business security and online transactions, allowing everyone to be informed and feel at ease when working with InstantCriminalChecks.com.
